Excerpt: . skies Of Indian summer, beautiful to see, But spoke of frosts, which had been and would be. Pg 111 There was that in his face which cometh not, Save when the soul has many a battle fought, And conquered self by constant sacrifice. There are two sculptors, who, with chisels fine, Render the plainest features half divine. All other artists strive and strive in vain, To picture beauty perfect and complete. Their statues only crumble at their feet, Without the master touch of Faith and Pain. And now his face, that perfect seemed before, Chiseled by these two careful artists, wore A look exalted, which the spirit gives When soul has conquered, and the body lives Subservient to its bidding. In a room Which curtained out the February gloom, And, redolent with perfume, bright with flowers, Rested the eye like one of Summer s bowers, I found my Helen, who was less mine now Than Death s; for on the marble of her brow, His seal was stamped indelibly. Her form Was like the slender willow,...
