Just before he left Buckingham Palace, for the last time as it proved, he wrote to the Queen: -- I must apologise for not having written and thanked you for your kind letter and enclosure before, but I have not had very much time as we have been packing and sorting out things hard all day. I start from here at 11.30 in a special train from Waterloo with some other officers. Major Martin is going to Southampton with me. I am glad to say they have allowed me to take my soldier servant with me, to his great delight. I fear I must end, as I must put in some of my last things. With best love to both yourself and Aunt Beatrice. His soldier servant, of whom...

Reviews

This publication may be really worth a go through, and a lot better than other. It really is written in simple terms and never difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
 -- Natalie Abbott

This book will not be simple to get going on reading but extremely exciting to read through. Yes, it can be playful, still an interesting and amazing literature. I am very easily could possibly get a delight of reading a written book.
 -- Rene Olson
